Examples of competencies that we are looking for:

- Engineers in the fields of HVAC, EIT, Piping, Structure
- CAD designers (2D & 3D)
- Project Engineers
- Discipline Lead Engineers

For Emtunga Engineering Services, which is a business area within Emtunga Solutions AB, we are looking for consultants in a number of different areas of expertise. You are offered an employment at Emtunga Solutions AB with the task of working as a consultant with the company's client. The role as a hired consultant offers a flexible way of working with the opportunity to work from home, at Emtunga Solutions office in Gothenburg or Vara and on site with clients in Norway (approx. 20-25% of working hours). The service is full-time, and access can take place immediately or by appointment.

Your main responsibilities as a consultant:

In the client's project, which can range from 6 months up to 2-3 years, you will receive concrete clear tasks and areas of responsibility. It can be anything from small and large projects in the disciplines that we are looking for. In the projects, you will work closely with the client's employees and with your colleagues in Sweden who have different skills and roles within each project.

Your personal traits:

We are looking for you who unpretentiously want to contribute to an efficient project execution in an international environment.

No matter what role you are looking for, you are a structured, orderly and operational and you can handle unforeseen events, decisions and daily changes with great calm and good situation control. As a person, you are curious and creative and keep up to date on the latest in your area of expertise. Your qualities as a consultant are good and you can collaborate internationally with all types of project employees with different competence levels to deliver correctly and on time. You always prioritize right to reach goals with quality. You are a good listener with communicative and constructive solution-oriented social skills and you always maintain a good mood regardless of work situation.

Your qualifications:

You should have a relevant education at university level, or equivalent, within your area of competence. You have worked for a few years in similar positions within your area of expertise. Some consulting roles require specialist knowledge and good experience. Other roles may suit you who want to gain experience, so do not hesitate to send in your spontaneous application no matter where you are in your career. It is important that you can express yourself well in written and spoken English and understand Norwegian. If you have previously worked in international assignments, this is a merit.

What can Emtunga Solutions AB offer you?

The company is a modern and attractive employer that offers good conditions for its employees. You are offered a developing independent job with great personal responsibility and the opportunity for an internal career. You come to an inclusive workplace where solution-oriented collaboration and joint activities are prioritized. Salary and other conditions are market based and the position is a permanent employment that can be taken up immediately. You will be placed at Emtunga Solution AB's office in Gothenburg or Vara and you will have the opportunity to partially work from home.

It includes about 20-25% stay abroad per month (mainly to Norway) at the client's office for reviews, meetings, follow-up on site, etc.
